MDI's Art Incrusta

Meuble Design International, a source for Austrian and Italian interior furnishings represented at IDCNY by Contract Marketing Associates, has introduced a new line of fine wood tables, cabinets, shelves and chairs—the Art Incrusta collection.

Wood incrustation, the placing of solid wood pieces in a solid wood surface, has a history going back many centuries. MDI continues this old tradition in the creation of contemporary furniture manufactured by using modern production techniques.

MDI is headquartered in Washington, D.C., Contract Marketing Associates's IDCNY showroom will open this summer.

The Turmalin chair, part of MDI's Art Incrusta collection, designed by Peter Zuchi and made in Austria.

Swiss architect Mario Botta's design for the Cooper Union arranged by the Architecture of Mario Botta at Center Two is sold out at most of his work. His first United States showroom design, ICF's at Center Two is underway.

The Botta design is an interior to a particular challenge: changing displays of interior produced an urban landscape a finished, utilitarian interior in an office or a living room, colors—black, grey, white to shine on their own.

The interior landscape features circles and arcs made of a degree angle and painted to echo the use of materials in buildings. The floor will be a surface used on an indoor is finished with the open signature. As interpreted in aviation wire arranged in down into the showroom discover the furnishings in a curtain.
